

PEZ, MAYA JUPITER, 360 TRANSCRIPT

To coin a phrase from Pez's song "Shine" how can we change it for the better?

MAYA:

I think we can change our attitudes, that's the most important message to get across here. That it is all about our attitudes, how we want to be treated and how we treat other people and just to keep an idea that it is all about respect in our minds as we enter in to relationships. I think we can change the fact of our how many women are being abused each year and I think we can bring that number down and that will be for the better.

What does this tour represent?

PEZ: Well I guess it's a chance to do what we love to do anyway which is to try and connect with people through music. So like for me you want to try and write about things you care about and feel strongly about and hope you can reach people on that level. To actually have support when you go out and do that though to get backing and promotion and try and push it out there and try push an actual message, is just really cool because you feel like you have even more power behind you than usual to try and do something about it rather than just the solo grind that every musician has to go through. It is really How about you 6?

360: Yeah just getting amongst like minded people I guess that all have positive outlook and stuff.

MAYA: The tour for me is a chance to go out and see people face to face and interact with them...yeah we are going to have fun play music and entertain, but at the end of the day there is a deeper meaning behind it all and the reason why we are all together and I think that's important that people leave with a bit of the realisation that we are here to spread a message of respect and that you know maybe that they just think about what that means for them in their lives.

What can we expect from you on tour?

360: Pretty high performance I reckon but I'm not using a band I'm using a DJ so it will just be me out there but my self with my DJ backing me up so I think it will be pretty awesome, pretty epic.

Pez, will you showcase new material on the tour?

Pez: Some new songs and that

360: Will you do some new songs?

Pez: We'll do some new songs...so I'm keen to do that. It's been a long time it's been over 2 years

Maya, what can we expect from you on tour?

Maya: I will be performing with Pez's band live which is going to be really cool. It is always good to have live musicians behind you because it gives you a little bit more energy. They are going to interpret the sounds from the record, and the main influences from my record sonhorcho, dance hall, soul music and hip-hop of course 'cos I am hip-hop.

You are going to hold song writing master classes for The Line in selected high schools later this year. What does that mean for you?

Pez:

It's exciting to get in amongst that to try and break down all those barriers break it down and build it back up again and get people to try and express. That's the thing though I didn't start rapping till I was 19 you know so I found it real late and you are trying to teach your self with a lot of little defence mechanisms you have got to overcome so I feel like the more you can get to people at that age and push them to follow their passion that's everything, everything else in life comes easy once you find that. The more you can steer kids to just find what they love is awesome so that's just a good chance to do that.
